ASKED TOO MUCH.

Mayor Caldwell Does Not Deny He May Run Independently.

"WAIT UNTIL I AM ASKED."

Says the Mayor when Requested to State Whether He would Run on a Citizens' Ticket—Has Not Thought of the Matter Yet—A Politician who Thinks the Mayor May Run Independently—Incidents and Doings in the Field of Politics.

An Intelligence representative met Mayor Caldwell in the police office last night just before the city council meeting, and asked him for information regarding the publication in last evening's News, in which it is intimated that His Honor may come out as an independent candidate for mayor.

The mayor said he had not seen the Journal. A copy was found and the mayor read the story.

"Well, it is hardly necessary for me to say this story was printed without my knowledge or consent," said the mayor, as he took off his glasses.

"Would you run as an independent candidate?" was asked.

"You are asking me too much," replied Mr. Caldwell. "A man can hardly decline to do what he is not yet importuned to do."

A well known politician said last night that he would not be surprised if Mayor Caldwell would announce himself soon as an independent candidate for the mayoralty. It is even said that the Democrats are thinking of endorsing Mr. Caldwell. Some of the Popocratic leaders think he would be a strong candidate on their ticket, on account of his free silver views.

Out for Council.

As will be seen by announcement in the advertising columns of this morning's issue, "Don" O'Brien, of the Sixth ward, has councilmanic aspirations, which he trusts to the tender mercies of the Democratic primaries. He would prefer an exciting career in the second branch rather than a dozing existence in the first branch.

A SHADY TRANSACTION.

Arthur Erdman May Have an Experience with the Law.

Arthur Erdman, late proprietor of the saloon on Market street, opposite the postoffice, who sold his place to Arthur Bros., of East Wheeling, has run up against the strong arm of the law, and thus far has an advantage over it. Some of Erdman's editors swooped down on him late Monday night, when they learned of the sale. Constable St. Myers had the claims of Welty Bros., and one other creditor, and levied on Erdman's household effects. Attorney Dryden, representing Erdman, asked St. Myers to delay taking action for a time. Later yesterday, when St. Myers visited the Erdman place, he discovered that the birds had flown. On investigation, he found that Erdman and his wife had taken their goods across the river to Bridgeport. There, they left the goods with Erdman's father-in-law, and proceeded up the river, being last heard of at Martin's Ferry. Constable St. Myers instituted a suit in Squire Howell's court, and secured re-possession of the goods. The attorney for the Erdmans, Mr. Dryden, disclaims any connection with this shady transaction. It is intimated that, if the Erdmans are found, they will be prosecuted on the charge of removing goods held under a constable's levy, which is a penitentiary offense.

APPEAL FOR AID

Made by the Home for Aged and Friendless Women of Wheeling.

The Thanksgiving season is again at hand. This day, sanctified by the fathers, who, even in their poverty and sorrow, first set it apart that they might fix their hearts on the bountiful giver of all things and inscribe on their hearts the story of His tender mercies to them. It is hallowed in memories, as the years glide by, by the thoughts of those who gathered at the old homestead, where heart drew nearer to heart and the old ties were renewed and strengthened, and the incense of prayer arose in every heart for His many rich blessings. But the indulgent Father of all, who has taught "to give thanks in all things" also teaches "to do good to all men," and speaks tenderly of the "poor that ye have always with you," so while we enjoy the happy intercourse with loved ones and partake of the "good things of life," let us not forget those who are not so fortunate, and from an abundance give something, be it ever so little, to cheer the heart of some one.

The Home for Aged and Friendless Women, located on Thirteenth street, depends largely on the public for support, and remembering the kindness of its many friends, would be grateful for donations of any kind. Groceries, fruits, or anything useful in a household will be gladly received.

ANOTHER NIGHT OF COMEDY.

"Cut Off With a Shilling," "A Game of Cards" and "A Happy Pair" to be repeated December 2.

Those who witnessed the admirable rendition of the three comedies, "Cut Off with a Shilling," "A Game of Cards," and "A Happy Pair," recently, will be pleased to learn the performance is to be repeated on the night of December 2, at the Opera House. The universal approbation of the audience, and the warm praises of the performers that have been sung since, moved those who failed to be present to request the repetition announced above.

The comedies will be given with the same cast, with the exception of Mr. B. K. McMeichen who, unfortunately has made business engagements that will necessitate his absence from the city. His part in "Cut Off with a Shilling" will be taken by L. R. Charles B. Ott, a most capable interpreter of comedy lines. This amateur association, as was said before by the Intelligence, shows capabilities and dramatic technique that would compare favorably with the most talented professionals. There is no doubt but what these ambitious Thespians will be greeted with a crowded house.

Incidentally it may be mentioned that the ladies and gentlemen composing the casts of these comedies will make a tour of the larger towns of the state, the dates having already been arranged by their business manager, Major D. E. Stal-maker. The Intelligence cheerfully commends these sterling players to the theatre-going people of the towns they may visit, fully confident they will ratify the Intelligence's verdict of their unusual excellence.

Blood is Life.

It is the medium which carries to every nerve, muscle, organ and fibre its nourishment and strength. If the blood is pure, rich and healthy you will be well; if impure, disease will soon overtake you. Hood's Sarsaparilla has power to keep you in health by making your blood rich and pure.

HOOD'S PILLS are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion, biliousness, etc.

SUDDEN DEATH

Of Daniel Robinson at Canton—Remains Brought Here Yesterday.

The remains of Daniel W. Robinson, son of Mr. George W. Robinson, of this city, who died suddenly in Canton, O., last Saturday night, were brought home yesterday afternoon over the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling road, by his father, accompanied by George W. Robinson, Jr. The body was taken to Mr. Robinson's residence on South Front street. The funeral services will take place this morning at 10 o'clock, under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias. The interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

The circumstances surrounding Mr. Robinson's death were particularly sad. He came home Saturday evening in good spirits, greeting his wife affectionately. He ate a hearty supper, and he and his wife retired quite early. He awakened in a short time and complained to his wife of severe pains about his heart. His wife immediately dressed and went for a doctor. The other details concerning his death are told by the Canton Repository as follows:

"By the time the physician arrived, the patient was beyond medical aid, dying in the arms of his wife. The latter was prostrated with grief and could not be seen Saturday night. Mr. George W. Robinson, a brother of the deceased, was summoned and after the remains had been viewed by Coroner McQuate, took charge of the body. The coroner's verdict will be in accordance with the testimony and inquest, which showed that the young man was afflicted with hereditary heart trouble, his mother having died of the trouble.

Mr. Robinson, the deceased, was born in Wheeling, W. Va., twenty-eight years ago. Two years ago he married in Washington, D. C. He was employed in the census department at Washington during the administration of President Harrison. Mr. Robinson came to Canton about eighteen months ago and by his gentlemanly and courteous manners won the respect of all who met him. His wife has the heartfelt sympathy of friends in her sad affliction.

"The deceased was a member of Canton Lodge, No. 583, Knights of Pythias, and also a member of the Junior Order United American Mechanics."

THE COURTS.

Yesterday's Cases Before the Criminal and Circuit Courts.

In Judge Paull's court yesterday the entire session was taken up in hearing the suits of Robert Teasdale vs. James Conrad, and Robert Teasdale vs. James Conrad and wife, on an action to recover on a note.

Part of the jurors in this court were excused from attendance until next Monday morning.

In the criminal court, Judge Hugus presiding, in the case of Charles Wheeler, indicted for stabbing William Byrne, the result of a row in that notorious neighborhood as Alley C, was tried before a jury.

In the case of the state vs. Joseph Keller, indicted for petit larceny, the defendant pleaded guilty. The sentence of the court was deferred.

Maud Smith and Jessie Monticello, indicted for keeping houses of ill fame, pleaded guilty and were fined $20 and costs.

Kitty Lee pleaded guilty to the same charge and was fined $20 and costs. She was also fined $10 and costs for selling beer without a license.

Women's Fortnightly Club.

Last evening the Women's Fortnightly Club held an interesting meeting at the grammar room of the Lincoln school building. The club membership is twenty-five at present, and is composed of the younger class of colored ladies of this city, who have literary inclinations and tastes, who have taken this method of fostering them. The objects of the organization are mutual help, self improvement and the attainment of the highest culture. The society is a branch of the Women's National Club, of which Mrs. B. K. Bruce, of Washington, D. C., is president.

Board of Commissioners.

All the formalities connected with the late election in Ohio county were completed yesterday, when the canvassing board of the board of commissioners met and signed up all of the certificates. In the case of the tie vote between John Short and Edward Helfer, for constable, in Center district, the board decided in favor of Helfer.
